

Lee Ann Lawrence

Teacher

Lee Ann Lawrence has been dancing since the age of 8. Originally from Florida, she has trained in ballet, tap, jazz, contemporary, lyrical, hip hop and acrobatics. She holds a degree in Business Administration with a minor in Dance. Lee Ann spent her childhood competing in dance and attending dance conventions throughout the south. A few of her teaching influences include Joe Tremaine, Marguerite Derricks, and the late Doug Caldwell. As an educator, Lee Ann brings her 25 years of teaching experience to every class with an emphasis on technique, kinesiology and injury prevention. In 2014 Lee Ann founded a heels dance program appropriately titled HEEL'D. It is her goal to continue to inspire women, of all ages, to continue dancing while providing a positive environment for growth and self acceptance. Outside of teaching dance classes, Lee Ann is passion about fitness and nutrition.
